WIFE EJECTS HUSBAND

Home Breaker May Cause a Divorce According to Husband's Story

ANOTHER "MAN" IN CASE

Police Officer Accompanies Husband to Residence so That He Can Get His Clothes and Stay Away

Wednesday morning Officer Sells of Waukegan accompanied J. H. Raub to his home at 117 Hickory street while he got his clothes and belongings. Then Raub, according to his own statement, started for Indiana, where he will mortgage his modest property and coming back will file papers in what bids fair to be a sensational suit for divorce.

Raub says he left his wife in Racine and came to Waukegan to live some two months ago. He says she followed him, although he had dismissed her for alleged unfaithfulness, and finally won him around. Hard working, steady, industrious and long suffering, he says, she abused him by alleged unfaithfulness with a Waukegan man whose name the police have and who is known as a notorious woman chaser, and then Raub's troubles began. They reached so acute a stage he says that after he had been operated upon for appendicitis at the hospital not one of his three children, his wife or his step child assisted him home, weak as he was.

Tuesday night he was pushed into the street he says, and told never to come back, his wife and stepdaughter, he says, ejecting him with scorn and contumely. He is a carpenter and the police say he is an industrious and sober citizen, who has been made the victim of a rascally breaker-up of homes. Chief Tyrrell says he knows the case and that Raub is in the right.

Raub says he will get a divorce and try to get the care of his three children. He has been married fifteen years.

PEOPLE'S PARTY HELD CAUCUS SATURDAY NIGHT

The Antioch village caucus was held at the village hall on Saturday evening of last week. As no record had been kept of whom the village committee of last year consisted of, at about eight o'clock B. F. VanPatten, who was a member of the committee two years ago, called the meeting to order and E. C. Sabu was chosen to act as chairman.

The ticket nominated at the caucus is as follows: B. Naber, Wm. Keulman and W. H. Osmond as trustees; W. S. Rinear, village clerk and J. E. Brook as village treasurer. Then in order to make the ticket legal a petition was filed.

The chairman then appointed George Bartlett, George Webb and George Olcott as village committee for the ensuing year.

On another page will be found the tickets as filed by petition.

The American Man and Woman.
The men do seem terribly busy, though. I have not met one man who seemed thoroughly at ease. They appear to be always working, and I can see that your men are overworking themselves while your beautiful women are taking life nicely and getting out all there is in it. This is why they are so beautiful.—Lady Duff Gordon.

PLAN TO ENLARGE HARBOR

E. J. & E. Railroad Lays Out Four New Slips at North End of Harbor

Waukegan will, within two years, have its harbor area increased twofold. This is the present indication.

The E. J. & E. railroad, the present harbor incumbents, recently laid out through their respective civil engineers four new slips at the northern end of the harbor which are to be annexed to the present car ferry slip and to the salt slip of which they are the owners.

The new slips as laid out run naturally in a northerly direction and will be built out toward the lake, one it is understood will have a frontage at the northern end of the Cressole plant.

William Fels, with the aid of his newly constructed sand sucker, it is understood will have the contract to dig these slips. Last year, although but one slip was laid out, he commenced work with his six inch sand sucker. This season he has added a new eight inch sucker which will be put to work immediately on the new contract. It is understood that he is to get all the sand as his reward for his work.

It is understood that as soon as the slips are completed they will be put on the for rent market, but under no consideration are they to be sold, as the company has already refused to sell any of their harbor frontage it is reported.

The Fels sand sucker was put to work and it is reported that under the new arrangements they will be able to ship at least eight or nine carloads of sand per day. Contractor Fels has already announced that the Trix, the former sloop, will again be put into commission this season by her owners.

A new gasoline engine will be installed and this launch will be used in towing the sand sucker around the slips.

EDWARD PROCTOR MEETS ACCIDENT AT KENOSHA

As the result of an accident which occurred at Kenosha last week Tuesday afternoon Edward Proctor, a former Antioch resident and son of Cyrus Proctor, who lives north of town, is lying in a serious condition in the Kenosha hospital.

It develops that Mr. Proctor was on his way to Bristol to visit relatives when the accident occurred. He was about to board the train at Kenosha as it was switching from a siding onto the main track. He sprang for the platform but somehow missed his hold and fell under the wheels of the coach which passed over him severing left leg just below the knee.

He was picked up and taken to the hospital where upon examination by the physician it was found necessary to amputate the limb near the hip.

Mrs. Proctor, who is lying at the point of death, was notified of the accident, the exact nature, however, being kept from her in consideration of her critical condition.

The many friends of the afflicted family in this vicinity extend their sympathy and hearty wishes for an early recovery.

The Mocking Bird.

Of song birds the mocking bird is easily king. The skylark and nightingale deserve all of the praise that the poets have given them. They are sweet songsters. Indeed, but when it comes to a contest with the mocking bird their famed laurels wither away. In its variety, range, volume and sweetness, the song of the mocking bird has no equal in the feathered kingdom. To hear the "falling song" of the mocking bird on a moonlight night in June is to hear that which never yet came from throat of skylark or nightingale.—N. Y. American.

Tallow Candles Still Much Used.
More than 150,000,000 pounds of tallow are used every year in the manufacture of candles in the United States.

RESULT OF ELECTION IN LAKE COUNTY BY TOWNSHIPS

Antioch Township Remains Wet, as Does Waukegan, Avon, West Deerfield, Vernon, Libertyville, Grant,
Wauconda, Cuba and Ela—Heavy Vote
Polled Throughout County

FAIR TEST OF LOCAL OPTION LAW IS HAD IN COUNTY

Leaders of the Local Option Movement in Lake County Declare They are not Discouraged Over the Outcome of the Election, but on the Other Hand They Feel Gratified Over the Showing They Made

The election in Antioch on Tuesday was one of the most exciting ever held in the township. Despite the bad condition of the roads and occasional showers throughout the day, a total vote of 506 was recorded.

In the first precinct 278 votes were cast, 96 of that number being for local option and 178 for license and 4 that did not vote on the question.

In the second precinct there were 228 votes cast, 109 for local option and 116 against, three ballots being cast that in no wise effected the proposition. Thus the total amount of votes cast in both precincts were 506, 205 for local option and 294 against, thus defeating the local option movement by a majority of 89 votes.

The voters began to arrive early and a spirited contest was kept up during the day.

The Allendale band and children of that institution were met at the depot by children from the Antioch school. A parade was formed which marched through the street carrying flags and banners.

The question has been thoroughly tried and both sides fought hard for control, and the result was a fair test of the choice of the people.

Following is an account of the number of votes cast, on the straight township ticket in Antioch, Grant, Waukegan and other townships.

RULES FOR GASOLINE CRAFT

Four to Six Second Whistle and Life Preserver for Each Passenger

With the usual spring preparations for the annual opening of navigation come Uncle Sam's little notices of regulations to all sailors and vessel owners on the great lakes.

These little notices have made their appearance during the last few days and all boat owners received them with a little notice attached which explains the penalty which will be inflicted for each offense in case these orders are violated.

In the case of steam tugs and vessels the restrictions as required are somewhat similar to those issued last year; the only material difference is found in the rules and regulations for operating gasoline pleasure craft.

Here the changes are many and important. Each gasoline launch is required by law to have on board at all times a life preserver for each passenger. This law was passed last year as the result of the launch catastrophe in Michigan City harbor, when a launch was run down by one of the larger vessels as it was about to cut across her bow.

This year each launch is required by law to be fitted out with a ship bell of the six inch variety. Each launch will also be required to have on board and in operation an air whistle capable of four to six second blasts for use in time of trouble.

These last requirements are those added this year and which will no doubt prove a necessity in this region.

ARM IS GROUND TO BITS

Fred Jelly, Aged Seventeen, Pulls Lever
and Saves Life

Presence of mind upon the part of one of Libertyville's leading young men, Fred Jelly, aged 17 years, Friday morning no doubt saved his life when, although his right arm was caught in one of the large kneading machines at macaroni factory at Libertyville and was being slowly ground to bits, he grasped the controlling lever, threw off the belt and saved his right shoulder from being drawn into the machine.

Had he not been able to perform this act, observers state, there is no doubt but that he would have lost his life.

His arm was broken in many places and later, when a doctor arrived, he announced the necessity of amputating the same.

The lad stood the pain bravely and latest reports from Libertyville state that it is doubtful whether or not he will recover.

CONGRESSMAN FOSS ENDORSED FOR RE-ELECTION

The tenth Congressional District held its convention at Ravenswood on Wednesday afternoon. David H. Jackson of Lake Forest was elected chairman of the convention. Two delegates were elected to attend the National convention that is to be held in Chicago in June.

The delegates and their alternates are as follows: Ronald A. Koyes—alternate, John Pope, of Waukegan. James Pease—alternate, Carlton Prody.

Ben Miller, of Waukegan, submitted a resolution, endorsing Geo. Edmund Foss for re-election to Congress. The resolution met with the heartiest approval and Mr. Foss was not only recommended for re-election but he was also commended for securing the North Chicago Naval Training school.

The unanimous and enthusiastic decision of the convention was that Mr. Foss shall be kept in Congress until his friends are ready to give him a position higher up on the ladder.

News reached here today the Congressman Foss, has reported the Naval Appropriation bill to the house. It carries with it an additional million dollars for the North Chicago Naval Training School. The appropriation will be a valuable one in carrying out the extensive plans of the school which will be the largest of its kind in the world.

How to Resist Colds.

Medical science is now nearly unanimous in its belief that colds are acquired by infection, just like measles or scarlet fever. They run through schools and factories and families. Folk who lead outdoor lives and dwell in well ventilated houses are least susceptible to them if they do not underfeed or overindulge in alcohol and if they do not pile on so much clothing that the splendid armor of the human skin is pampered and weakened. Plenty of cold bathing and exercise, light underwear, free use of water inside and outside of the body and sleeping with wide-open windows will help them to resist the infection.

A Way They Have.

As soon as people have secured the necessities of life they begin to want some of the luxuries.

TO LIMIT NUMBER SALOONS

Fox Lake Village Takes Steps to Limit the Number of Saloons

TWENTY-FIVE SALOONS NOW

Attorney Ben Miller of Waukegan, is Preparing Ordinance Preventing Licensing More Saloons

Another Lake county corporation is planning to limit the number of saloons which may operate within its boundaries. Fox Lake, the lake resort so widely known and which, in the number of saloons for its size was, for years, second only to Highland, and since the latter's saloons quit business, leads in this distinction.

Fox Lake village officers feel that the place now has all the saloons it can or should support and while they would like to decrease that number they cannot do so, yet they are to make it impossible to have more than the present total number, twenty-five.

Attorney Ben Miller of Waukegan, attorney for Fox Lake village, is now preparing an ordinance preventing the issuance of licenses to more than twenty-five in Fox Lake. As soon as it is finished it will be adopted by the board and from then on no more saloons can operate.

It was found impossible to fix the number of licenses proportionate to the population, as is done in many cities, hence the plan was adopted similar to Waukegan's, of limiting a certain number of population.

Residents of the village feel the plan is a good one and even saloon keepers favor it. While all the saloons do a good business in the summer when resorters throng the lake region, in winter there is little or no business, and it is even remarked, "Why, there's a saloon for every man who drinks in the village."

Fox Lake now holds the record for number of saloons compared to population, so far as Lake county is concerned. In summer the population for a few weeks numbers thousands; in winter there are but about 500 residents inside the village limits.

DELINQUENT TAX LIST BY TOWNS

County Treasurer Fred Ames last week issued assessors' books to the assessors of the county and at the same time gave each official a small booklet of instructions which, as the result of a movement that he originated and boomed at the first county treasurers' convention at Springfield, are issued uniformly throughout the state, making for a uniform system of assessment.

Thumb Bells.

The thimble was originally called a thumb bell by the English, because worn on the thumb, then a thimble, and finally its present name. It was a Dutch invention and was first glass and pearl. In China beautiful carved pearl thimbles are seen, brought to England in 1695.

Thimbles were formerly made only of iron and brass, but in comparatively late years they have been made of gold, silver, steel, horn, ivory and even glass and pearl thimbles are seen bound with gold and with the end of gold.

The first thimble introduced in Siam was a bridal gift from the king to the queen; it is shaped like a lot bud, made of gold and thickly studded with diamonds arranged to spell the queen's name.—Church Eclectic.

ADDS FIVE MILLIONS

ANDREW CARNEGIE INCREASES FUND FOR EDUCATORS.

IRONMASTER IS GENEROUS

Professors in State Universities to Receive Pensions from Foundation When Legislature and Governor Approve Application.

New York.—An announcement was made Friday night that Andrew Carnegie would add $5,000,000 to the fund of the Carnegie Foundation, or whatever sum might be necessary to include as pension beneficiaries eligible professors of state universities.

No provision was made for this class of educators in the original gift, for the reason, stated by Mr. Carnegie at the time, that the donor thought it possible that such institutions might prefer that their relations should continue exclusively with the state from which their chief support was derived. This view was not taken by the National Association of State Universities, which in the year following the establishment of the foundation petitioned the trustees for admittance to the benefits of the retiring allowance system.

Original Fund Too Small.

It was then found that the earnings of the original fund of $10,000,000 were exhausted through the outlet already planned, and that if the faculties of all state universities were to be benefited, an additional $5,000,000 would be required. The situation was placed formally before Mr. Carnegie by Dr. Henry S. Pritchett, president of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, on March 31 last, and on that same day Mr. Carnegie replied that the money would be forthcoming for any state institution whose application received the approval of the legislature and governor of its state. The additional donation will be in five per cent. bonds, providing an added annual income of a quarter of a million dollars, and a total for yearly disbursement of $750,000.

Andrew Carnegie.

Mr. Carnegie's Letter. Dr. Pritchett consented to make public Mr. Carnegie's letter promising the further gift and a statement regarding the action of the National Association of State Universities. Under date of March 31, 1908, Mr. Carnegie wrote to Dr. Pritchett:

"I beg now to say that should the governing boards of any state university apply for participation in the fund and the legislature and governor of the state approve such application, it will give me great pleasure to increase the fund to the extent necessary to admit them. I understand from you that if all the state universities should apply and be admitted five millions more of five per cent. bonds would be required, making the fund $15,000,000 in all.

"From the numerous letters I have received from pensioners and their wives and the warm approval of the press and public, I am satisfied that this fund is, and must be for all time, productive of lasting good, not only to the recipients but to the cause of higher education.

"Most grateful am I to be privileged as trustee of this wealth to devote it to such use. Truly yours, Andrew Carnegie."

Joliet (Ill.) Fire Loss. Joliet, Ill.—The Barrett block was destroyed by fire Saturday, the loss being more than $100,000. Two persons were burned in escaping from the building. The occupants were the Barrett Hardware Company, the Joliet National Bank, there being also a number of offices on the third floor.

Judge Cantrell of Kentucky Dies. Frankfort, Ky.—Judge James E. Cantrell of Georgetown, Ky., died Sunday, after a long illness. He was the presiding judge in the first two trials of Caleb Powers for the murder of William Goebel.

Asphyxiated by Gas. Fort Wayne, Ind.—Louis H. Curryer, a prominent real estate man of this city, was found dead in his bathroom Sunday afternoon, having been asphyxiated by gas leaking from a water heater.

COSTLY DISTILLERY BLAZE

PEORIA (ILL.) PLANT SUFFERS TO THE EXTENT OF $230,000.

Four Large Factories in Lynchburg, Va., Are Destroyed by Flames—Incendiaries Suspected.

Peoria, Ill.—Fire which started on the fourth floor of the elevator of the Cornish Distilling company's plant at two a. m. Friday did $230,000 damage to the building and contents, threatened all the other buildings and 3,000 cattle and proved one of the most spectacular blazes seen in years.

The "mill," or elevator building, is a six-story brick structure 150 feet square, in which thousands of bushels of grain are stored, and at the top of which is the machinery for grinding the corn and other grains for the coopers.

The blaze quickly spread to the other floors, and to the "still" house of the distillery proper adjoining. In this building are huge beer stills and the heat caused an explosion which set the roof of the beer tower, a hundred feet high, on fire. The burning beer on the roof of this building presented the novel spectacle of a huge green torch, the center of which was red from the burning timbers. As the tower burned down the colors changed and the outside of the torch became red and the inside a bright green.

Lynchburg, Va.—One of the most destructive fires in this city in 20 years occurred early Friday when four factories, three of them tobacco plants, and four negro dwellings were consumed, with a total loss of $225,000 and insurance of $175,000. The fire-raged during a 20-mile wind and the firemen were powerless to cope with the blaze. The factory of the Norfolk & Western Overall company and three tobacco factories occupied by W. G. Dunnington of Farmville, in which more than a million pounds of tobacco for Austrian and Italian trade were stored, were the business buildings destroyed, the loss on the tobacco factories being $115,000, fully insured. It is believed that the fire was of incendiary origin. Dunnington is a heavy buyer in Kentucky, which gave rise to a report that "night riders" might have been concerned.

WATSON AND WILLIAMS.

Presidential Ticket Nominated by People's Party Convention.

St. Louis.—For president of the United States—Thomas E. Watson of Georgia.

For vice-president of the United States—Samuel Williams of Indiana. The above ticket was nominated Friday by the People's party convention, after two stormy sessions, throughout which the Nebraska and Minnesota delegations, working in the interest of William J. Bryan, strove desperately to bring about an adjournment of the convention until after nominations had been made by the Democratic and Republican parties.

Hoplessly outnumbered and without any chance whatever of gaining their object, the Nebraska men fought desperately to the last, and when Jay W. Forest of Albany, N. Y., mounted the platform to place Watson in nomination, they withdrew from the convention, attended by the Minnesota delegation, which consisted, however, of only one man, T. J. Weighan.

SUES HEFLIN FOR $20,000.

Negro Assailed by Representative Made Plaintiff in Washington.

Washington.—Representative Thomas Hefflin of Alabama was Saturday made the defendant in a suit for $20,000 damages filed in the district supreme court by Louis Lundy, the negro with whom the representative had an altercation on a street car on March 27 last. Lundy alleges that the representative kicked him, slapped him in the face and with great force knocked him off the car, shot him, inflicting a wound above the left ear and extending backward to the top of his head, and that he sustained bruises on the body and limbs. The affair grew out of Mr. Hefflin's taking exception to the negro's drinking on a street car in the presence of women.

Kills in a Courtroom.

Terre Haute, Ind.—Found guilty of charge of arson, Henry F. McDonald, in the circuit courtroom Thursday shot and killed Detective William E. Dwyer, wounded other officers and was himself seriously wounded. The shooting followed the announcement of the verdict of the jury before which McDonald had been tried on a charge of dynamiting stores and a church in Sanford last year.

Warships Collide; 36 Die.

HOOSIERS NAME J. E. WATSON.

Republicans Put Him Up for Governor and Indorse Fairbanks.

Indianapolis, Ind.—The Indiana Republican state convention Thursday adopted a platform, indorsed Vice-President Fairbanks and instructed the 30 state delegates to the national convention at Chicago to vote and work for his nomination for the presidency, and nominated the following ticket:

St. Paul Murderer Confesses.

St. Paul, Minn.—John Smolensky, a Polish rag picker, 73 years of age, was murdered Saturday, March 21. His body was discovered Sunday morning in the cellar of the house in which he lived. Several hours later, Fred Eschle, an ex-convict, 47 years of age, was arrested and confessed the crime. He said that he had lived in the house with the dead body for two weeks. Eschle said that he was intoxicated when he committed the crime, but admitted he took $70 from the dead man.

TAFT HAS A LIVELY TIME.

Rapid Succession of Luncheons and Speeches in Chicago.

Chicago.—Secretary Taft's great endurance test of Chicago dinners, receptions, Speechmaking and handshaking closed Saturday night in a whirlwind finish at a banquet of the Commercial club at the Congress hotel.

Sunday Mr. Taft relaxed somewhat. He had a quiet dinner with some Yale classmates and made one speech, to the Order of Railway Conductors. At six o'clock he left for Omaha.

The secretary's program from breakfast to bedtime was a sort of triumphal progress. He appeared in public first at the luncheon given in his honor by the Press club at the Auditorium hotel. There he made his first speech of the day. Then he was whisked to the luncheon of the Irish Fellowship club at the Great Northern hotel, where he made another speech.

Next he materialized at the luncheon of the Hamilton club, where he uttered his estimate of the personality and work of Theodore Roosevelt. About the middle of the afternoon he took his place in the reception room of the Hamilton club and shook hands with something like 1,000 men, women and children who had been standing in line in Monroe street for an hour or more.

SEVERAL PERISH IN FLOODS.

Rivers in Virginia and West Virginia on the Rampage.

Elkhorn, W. Va.—The greatest flood ever recorded in the history of the Tug river and Elkhorn valleys, with the exception of that caused by the cloudburst of seven years ago, when a hundred lives were lost, now prevails. In 36 hours the rainfall registered three inches and the Elkhorn, Tug, Bluestone and other streams in Virginia and West Virginia are out of their banks.

Wednesday night along the Elkhorn many hundreds of families were camping along the mountain sides, their homes being inundated. Three lives were reported lost at North Fork, W. Va., and two at Keystone, W. Va. Bridges are washed away along the Norfolk & Western railroad and traffic has been suspended.

BIG FIRE IN WISCONSIN TOWN.

Elk Mound Threatened with Destruction—Loss Is $20,000.

Eau Claire, Wis.—Fire Sunday in the yards of the Badger State Lumber company, 12 miles west of here, threatened the destruction of the village of Elk Mound, adjoining the yards. In response to calls sent here for help, a special train on the Northwestern conveyed apparatus to the scene and saved the town. The lumber company's entire plant including office buildings was wiped out, together with the mercantile establishment of Brackett, Replne & Weber, three loaded freight cars, and the village fire department building and contents. Loss, $20,000. The authorities are looking for three tramps who are suspected of setting fire to the lumber yards.

Oil Gusher in Church Yard.

Butler, Pa.—No services could be held in the Reformed church at Petersburg, the "cabbage patch" oil district of this county, Sunday, because the congregation, having gone into oil prospecting, struck a gusher Saturday night on the church lot 50 feet from the building. The flow came in so strong during the night and Sunday that a large force had to be kept at work to care for the oil. The lucky strike is a godsend to the struggling congregation, which is in debt for its property and owes its pastor back salary.

Madrid.—One of the principal tax collectors of the province of Almeria has fled from the country, having, it is charged, embezzled $400,000 of the public funds.

PASS STERLING BILL

BOTH PARTIES IN HOUSE UNITE ON LIABILITY MEASURE.

ONLY ONE NEGATIVE VOTE

Littlefield Stands Alone in Opposition—Senate Passes Army Bill, Carrying Appropriation of Nearly $100,000,000.

Washington.—A truce between the Democrats and Republicans was for a time declared Monday when under suspension of the rules the house took up for consideration and passed the Sterling employers' liability bill. The Democrats broke out into loud applause and handclapping when the reading of the measure had been concluded. Mr. Sterling of Illinois explained the provisions of the bill, the main features of which have been published. Mr. Sterling stated that the bill would be applicable to interurban car lines between states and street railroad lines in the territories and the District of Columbia.

The Democrats applauded Mr. Henry of Texas when he said the bill was a meritorious and constitutional one, and that not a Democratic vote would be recorded against it. In the opinion of Mr. Littlefield the section of the bill relating to actions at law in cases of contributory negligence was an innovation on existing laws. He delivered a legal argument in support of his contention and declared that the bill was open to the same objection that was raised against the act declared unconstitutional by the supreme court of the United States. The vote resulted: Yeas, 300; nays, 1; not present, 3. The negative vote was cast by Mr. Littlefield.

The house Monday passed the bill appropriating $650,000 for a naval station at Pearl harbor, Hawaii.

The army bill, carrying an appropriation of almost $100,000,000, was passed by the senate practically as reported from the committee on military affairs. The only amendment adopted carried an appropriation of $20,000 for a system of water works for Fort William Henry Harrison, Montana. The bill materially increases the pay of officers and enlisted men of the army.

A resolution introduced by Senator Foraker was adopted. It calls on the secretary of war for the names of all former soldiers of the Twenty-fifth infantry discharged without honor on account of the Brownsville affray who have applied for re-enlistment.

SEVEN ARE KILLED IN RIOTS.

Lisbon Has a Night of Terror After the Election.

Lisbon.—Seven persons were shot to death and 100 others wounded by soldiers Sunday evening after the voting in the elections in this city had ended. The rioting was widespread and such was the confusion during the violent conflict between the populace and the municipal guard that the guardsmen, mistaking infantrymen who had been called out for members of the mob, fired a volley into their ranks, seriously wounding three of the soldiers.

The night was one of terror for Lisbon, which seemed suddenly aflame with seething revolt. Bands of men ran wildly through the streets brandishing weapons, while the sharp crack of rifles was heard in various sections of the city. Thousands of the most peaceable citizens fled to their homes just as they did on the night after the assassination of King Carlos and the crown prince.

MAD DEED OF JEALOUS MAN.

Prominent Pittsburger Murders Young Girl and Himself.

Pittsburg, Pa.—Jealous of a 17-year-old girl, Samuel L. Gardner, aged 59 years, a prominent civil engineer, residing at McKees Rocks, a suburb of this city, Monday shot the young woman, Miss Dorothy Yost, through the heart, causing instant death and then fired a bullet into his mouth, dying three hours later in a hospital without having regained consciousness. Gardner, who was a married man with grown children, lived next door to Mrs. Bradney, the girl's mother. Both Gardner's and Miss Yost's families are prominent.

Flood of Molten Glass.

Glassboro, N. J.—In a fire which damaged one of the Whitney company's glass factories in this place, 85 tons of molten glass were let loose, causing considerable loss. The molten glass ran down a hill near the works and set fire to a Pennsylvania railroad bridge which was badly damaged.

Automobile Manufacturer Dies.

Detroit, Mich.—Byron J. Carter, vice-president and general superintendent of the Motor Car company of this city and inventor of a friction drive automobile bearing his name, died Monday from pneumonia at his home here.

Asquith Goes to See King.

London.—Herbert H. Asquith, the chancellor of the exchequer, who has been summoned by King Edward to Biarritz, crossed by the night boat from Dover to Calais Monday night en route to that place to see the king, whose absence at a time when it was foreseen that Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman's illness must lead almost inevitably to a cabinet crisis provokes criticism in the English papers. There has been a rumor that the king would return to London on Saturday next, but this is very doubtful.

Mrs. Arthur R. House, of Church Road, Moorestown, N. J., writes:

"I feel it is my duty to let people know what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I suffered from female troubles, and last March my physician decided that an operation was necessary. My husband objected, and urged me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and to-day I am well and strong."

IN A JAPANESE THEATER

The Funny Things One Sees in Smiling Round the World

By
MARSHALL P. WILDER

(Copyright, by Joseph B. Bowles.)

The theater has always been a favorite form of recreation among the Japanese, and especially beloved of the Japanese woman, for it is her only amusement, and the only public place where she may accompany her husband.

The theater of old Japan, with its strutting legendary heroes, its ancient costumes, and actors who carried their own lanterns in order to light the expressions of their faces, is practically a thing of the past. While many of the old customs still survive, modern inventions and appliances have been grafted upon them to the effect of producing some startling contrasts. The Japs, eager to grasp European ideas and customs, have made use of some, but left many as they have been for generations.

We may go at any hour, so suppose we start at five. On our way, we are sure to see every characteristic of street life. The Japanese, in their eagerness to adopt European ways and customs, have swallowed such a large meal they are not able to digest it; and no better illustration of this can be found than their pretentious and truly wonderful street signs. As a specimen of English as she is Japped, the following, culled from a choice, and I might say, startling, collection, is respectfully submitted. The spelling and punctuation are especially worth noting:

On a baker's cart:
BY CAKE & A PIECE OF BREAD.

Over a ladies' tailor shop:
DRAPER, MILLENER & LADIES OUTFITTER.

The ribbons, the laces, the veils, the feelings. (frillings?)

Over a furniture shop:
CHAIR, COUCHON. (couch?) & MAT-LES (Mantels?)

On a dairy window:
PEST MILK. (rather alarming, but probably means BEST).

On a druggist's:
BEST PERFUMING WATER ANTI-FLEA.

Over a laundry:
We most cleanly and carefully wash our customers with cheap prices as under.

Ladies eight shillings per hundred. Gentlemen seven shillings.

A dentist's sign:
NOTICES.

Our tooth is a very important organ for human life and countenance as you know; therefore when it is attacked by disease or injury, artificial tooth is also very useful.

Japanese substitute for coffee:
JAPAN INSTED OF COFFEE.

More men is got dross of the legs who us (use?) this coffee, which is contain nourish.

Photographer's studio:
PHOTOGRAPHER EXECUTED.

Over a barber shop:
HEAD CUTTER.

Over a tailor's:
THE EUROPEAN MONKEY JACKET MADE FOR THE JAPANESE.

I reserve the gems of the collection for the last:
FULISH, RUTTR, CRIAM, MILK.

(Fresh Butter, Cream, Milk.)

Over an egg shop:
EXTRACT OF FOWL.

Our rickshaws stop, and our men light their paper lanterns. It seems absurd to have a paper lantern for practical use, but the little candles of suicide because of the financial ruin of her husband.

The part of the woman is played by Takata, one of the greatest impersonators of women in Japan. There are no actresses, all the parts being assumed by men. This particular actor is so conscientious, that, in order to retain the atmosphere of his impersonations, while at home he dresses, talks acts, and generally comports himself as a woman would.

Danjro, the most famous impersonator of women in Japan, is reported to have made up so perfectly as a girl of 17, when he was 65 years old, that when he went to his own house and asked to see Danjiro, his wife did not know him, and in a fit of jealous anger, berated him for a shameless girl, coming there to see her husband.

Her husband approaches, and the old man runs off, across the "Flower Way," begging her not to let his charity be known.

The husband is suspicious, and asks her why she was talking with that man. Her promise given, she cannot answer, and after a fiery scene, he spurns her, and the curtain is drawn, to the solemn banging of a drum, and the high pitched mournful song of some one in the distance.

Actors Who Carried Their Own Lanterns.

Danjro owns the finest curtain in Japan, presented to him by the Geisha of Tokio, who each gave a hundred yen. It is of silk, embroidered as only Japanese know how, and to see, well worth the price of admission.

The entire lower floor of the theater is divided into little boxes, about four feet square, by partitions not more than four or five inches high. About five yen are paid for these boxes, and they hold four people, who kneel on matting rugs.

The best seats are the boxes along the sides of the balcony, which also hold four people, and cost six yen. As a yen is worth 50 cents of American money, it may be seen that the prices of Japanese theaters, by comparison with those of Europe or America, are very reasonable.

At this juncture our ears are assailed by the most heart-rending sounds that chill the blood in our veins. It is the European orchestral. The smiling guide tells us: "European orchestra very nice—Japanese people like very much!"

"Who's modded my drom-bone?" roars a musician.

"Ol did," said Paddy. "Here ye've been for two hours tryin' to pull it apart, an' Ol did it in wan minut!"

A sharp noise, made by striking two pieces of hard wood together announces that the next act is about to begin. The intervals between acts are usually about ten minutes.

As the curtain is drawn aside, the pieces of wood tap together faster and faster, until the stage is disclosed.

This time it is a house, the front open, chrysanthemums growing about the door. At intervals the shrill note of an insect is heard.

Sata, the great actor, is seated on the floor; he is in a state of intoxication, and keeps drinking from a bottle in front of him.

His father-in-law is pleading with him to grant a divorce to his daughter, as his constant intoxication and ill-treatment of her are hard to bear. The drunkard refuses, and the scene between the men is a powerful one, a knowledge of the language being unnecessary in order to appreciate their really great acting.

The revolving stage, used in all Japanese theaters, is seen in this act, as the entire stage turns, bringing into view a different scene, the old man's house.

The play proceeds through several acts, to a European or American, in rather a disjointed manner, and without much sequence, but with no lack of fine acting.

Just before the last act, the ushers bring in the sandals and clogs that have been checked, so there will be no confusion and delay when the theater is out.

But three days are allowed for rehearsal, and in that time they must be letter perfect, for a Japanese audience is a critical one.

Approbation is announced by clapping the hands, but audible comments are frequent.

When we go out, our rickshaws, wrapped in their rugs, hurry from the gallery where they have been enjoying the play. The orchestra and the electric lights are not the only innovations in this theater. The idea of a play of modern Japanese life is entirely new, and we were fortunate in seeing the first performance of one of the few modern plays ever enacted in Japan.

ALL AFTER THE BLUE RIBBON.

Remarkable Unanimity of Knowledge in Sunday School Class.

"Now, children," said the teacher of the infant class of a Sunday school, "I told you last Sunday that each of you who learned a verse from the Bible and recited it to-day would receive a large blue ribbon. Let me see how many of you have learned a verse."

There were 20 or 30 boys and girls from four to eight years of age ranged about her in a circle. For a moment there was no response to her question. Then a bright looking girl timidly raised a hand.

"Ah! Julia has learned a verse," the teacher said. "I am sorry that no more hands are raised. I had hoped that nearly all of you would get a blue ribbon. But I suppose your mamma and papa have been very busy and some of you forgot. Well, Julia, let us hear your verse."

"Walk in the light," the little girl repeated. Then a boy who sat near Julia put up his hand.

"Oh!" exclaimed the teacher, "Charles has a verse, too. What is it, my boy?"

"Walk in the light," responded Charles.

"Well," said the teacher, "you learned the same verse, didn't you? It's a very good verse, too. 'Walk in the light.' I hope we may all do so. Now, is there any one else who has learned a verse? Why, I see five, six, seven, eight hands raised. I will hear from you, Arthur, first."

"Walk in the light," said Arthur. The teacher looked rather hard at Arthur, and said:

"Gladys next. What is your verse? Speak out loudly so that all the class may hear."

"Walk in the light!" shouted Gladys.

By this time all but two of the children who had not been heard from were holding up their hands. The teacher looked at a boy whose name she had forgotten and asked: "What verse have you learned?"

"Walk in the light," replied the whole crowd in chorus, each little one apparently fearing there would not be another chance to win the blue ribbon.

The Wizard.

Some years ago an expedition from the University of Pennsylvania was sent to one of our southern states for the purpose of observing a solar eclipse.

The day before the event one of the professors said to an old darky belonging to the household wherein the scientist was quartered:

"Tom, if you will watch your chickens to-morrow morning you'll find that they'll all go to roost at 11 o'clock."

Tom was, of course, skeptical; but at the appointed hour the heavens were darkened, and the chickens retired to roost. At this the negro's amazement showed no bounds, and he sought out the scientist.

"Professor," said he, "how long ago did you know dem chickens would go to roost?"

"About a year ago," said the professor, smiling.

"Well, ef dat don't beat all!" was the darky's comment. "Professor, a year ago dem chickens wa'n't even hatched!"—Harper's Weekly.

One of Britain's "Little Wars."

Trouble is expected in India, where the most troublesome and pugnacious of the Afridi tribes, the Zakka Khels, 11, powerful, fierce and cunning, have worn out the patience of the government, and a punitive expeditionary force has been dispatched against them. Seven thousand carefully selected men compose the force and they will be pitted against 30,000 warriors. The present expedition was only decided upon after a number of the most serious raids, in which treachery, plunder and murder figured in great degree. On account of the inherent treachery and natural wickedness of the warlike tribes Great Britain is called upon to engage in a war with them about once in every ten years.

A Comparison.

"What we want," said the economist, "is some plan by which a dollar can be made to do more work."

"That's right," answered Farmer Cornstossel; "my experience with a dollar is like my experience with the horse over in that field. Even when I manage to get hold of it I find it has kicked up its heels and run away before I can get it half-way hitched up."

In Wrong.

"Your husband is greatly in need of exercise," said the doctor. "He's indoors too much. He'll have to get out more."

"Out more!" exclaimed the wife. "He's been out every night this week. That's what's the matter with him."

Realizing that he was in the wrong, the doctor left a prescription and promised to call later.

The Ways of Counts.

"Isn't it strange that foreign counts never see anything attractive about poor American girls?"

"No more strange than the fact that counts with money don't see anything attractive in any kind of American girls."

A Difficulty.

"My boy, marry a wife who can give you a home."

"I'd like to, but so few girls I know own their own houses."—Baltimore American.

HOW TO APPLY PAINT.

Greatest care should be taken when painting buildings or implements which are exposed to the weather, to have the paint applied properly. No excellence of material can make up for carelessness of application, any more than care in applying it can make poor paint wear well.

The surface to be painted should be dry and scraped and sandpapered hard and smooth. Pure white lead should be mixed with pure linseed oil, fresh for the job, and should be well brushed out, not flowed on thick. When painting is done in this manner with National Lead Company's pure white lead (trade marked with "The Dutch Boy Painter") there is every chance that the job will be satisfactory. White lead is capable of absolute test for purity. National Lead Company, Woodbridge Building, New York, will send a testing outfit free to any one interested.

SADLY MISTAKEN.

Hubby (disgustedly)—The doctor is a fool.

Wifey—What's the matter, dear?

Hubby—He said I need exercise. Think of it! Exercise! Exercise for a man who has looked after his own furnace all winter, and is now contemplating the opening of the lawn mower season!

SKIN TROUBLES CURED.

First Had Itching Rash—Threatened Later With Blood-Poison in Leg—Relied on Cuticura Remedies.

"About twelve or fifteen years ago I had a breaking-out, and it itched, and stung so badly that I could not have any peace because of it. Three doctors did not help me. Then I used some Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment, and Cuticura Resolvent and began to get better right away. They cured me and I have not been bothered with the itching since, to amount to anything. About two years ago I had la grippe and pneumonia which left me with a pain in my side. Treatment ran it into my leg, which then swelled and began to break out. The doctor was afraid it would turn to blood-poison. I used his medicine but it did no good, then I used the Cuticura Remedies three times and cured the breaking-out on my leg. J. E. Hennen, Milan, Mo., May 13, 1907."

Gazetteer Humor.

Many specimens of unconscious humor are received by the editors of that monumental work, the new Imperial Gazetteer of India. A district was said to be "an extensive rolling plain, consisting of alternate ridges of bare stony hills and narrow fertile valleys." An interesting item of natural history was afforded by the remark, "the buffalo differs from the cow in giving a milk which is richer in fat, in voice, and in having no hump."—London Globe.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Electrification of the railroad terminals in Chicago is declared to be advisable and feasible, both for economy in operation and to abate the smoke nuisance.

The President will transmit to congress, without comment, the correspondence and facts relative to the controversy of the United States and Venezuela as to the claims of American citizens against the latter. It is known, however, that the President feels this country has been patient with President Castro beyond even the limits of ordinary toleration or decency, and he is sanguine that when congress has digested the facts there will be action of some kind. The responsibility of that action is to be left wholly in the hands of congress.

Obviously congressional opinion is at last awakened to the necessity of a thorough and scientific revision of our currency legislation. The Aldrich bill has gone over to the House unchanged in its essential features, but improved in several minor details. And now a currency commission is proposed to consider the entire subject, and a measure providing for an inquiry into the changes and forms required in the banking systems of the country is promised to the senate by Mr. Aldrich. The idea is not unworthy of adoption as public sentiment on the currency question must be favorably developed ere any reform of a permanent nature can be instituted.

New York leads all states in road building. Its legislature has authorized $50,000,000 bond issue for good roads, to be allotted among the different counties. To get its share each county must raise an equal amount by local taxation. Fifteen other states have lately adopted state aid for roads in one form or other. In Illinois the state furnishes material to the road commissioners in the form of stone crushed by penitentiary labor, and ships it free of charge. The worst roads are in the south, and the best are in New England. Indiana leads the northern states with 20,877 miles of gravel roads and 3,300 miles of macadam. Illinois is near the foot of the list.

The progress of the campaign of Richard Yates for the republican nomination for governor of Illinois before the primaries next August 8th, is such as to make the old-time politicians of the state sit up and take notice. The indications are that the Yates movement is in the nature of a ground swell as reports come in from county after county over the state showing growth of Yates sentiment among the people, who will control this time, with unstinted admiration for the man who, with the courage of his father, has made two magnificent though losing fights in the last four years in Illinois politics, after an administration that, now viewed calmly and without prejudice caused by the non-political trust press, is acknowledged to have been one of the very best in the history of Illinois.

There is every prospect that President Roosevelt will send a special message to congress in the not distant future, looking to the suppression of anarchy in this country. Some days ago the Attorney General was instructed to institute an exhaustive investigation for the purpose of ascertaining if there is sufficient authority for suppressing anarchy by the executive branch of the government, and it seems that further enactments are necessary so that a special message is imminent. President Roosevelt recommended legislation on this subject in his annual message of 1901, and only limited action was taken, congress refusing to make declaration that anarchy was an offense against the law of nations, as the message suggested and declining to provide for the arrest and punishment of American citizens professing its principles. All will concur in the judgment that congress should take some such steps at the present time that will seek, at least, to prevent the recurrence of such outrages as that at Union Square, New York, and at Chicago upon the chief of police. Such a course need not and would not violate the liberty of individual speech or of the press, but it would suppress that license which induces the weakminded to commit crime.

German and American Machinery.
Germans are less in a hurry than Americans. Their printing presses are built much heavier than ours, the machines being constructed to last a long period, even at the sacrifice of speed and efficiency.

Pain, anywhere, can be quickly stopped by one of Dr. Shoop's Pink Pain Tablets.
Pain always means congestion—unnatural blood pressure. Dr. Shoop's Pink Pain Tablets simply coax congested blood away from pain centers. These Tablets—known by druggists as Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets—simply equalize the blood circulation and then pain always departs in 20 minutes. 20 Tablets 25 cents. Write Dr.
Shoop, Racine, Wis. for free package.
Sold by J. H. Swan.

There Is an Order Higher Still.
You are set in an age when the material civilization of the world has been piled up to a gigantic height, to testify that there is an order higher still; that as the soul is more than the body, and eternity than time, so the moral order is above the material;
that justice is above power; that justice may suffer long, but must reign at last; that power is not right; that no wrongs can be sanctified by success; nor can the immutable laws of right and wrong be confounded.—
Cardinal Manning.

Death Was On His Heels.

Jesse P. Morris, Skippers, of Va., had a close call in the spring of 1906. He says:
"An attack of pneumonia left me so weak and with such a fearful cough that my friends declared consumption had me, and death was on my heels. Then I was persuaded to try Dr. King's New Discovery.
It helped me immediately, and after taking two and a half bottles I was a well man again. I found out that New Discovery is the best remedy for coughs and lung disease in all the world." Sold under guarantee at J. H. Swan's drug store. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

Ignorant Woman.

"This thermometer," complained the old lady, "ain't no good. I can never tell by it how cold the room is."
"My dear madam," said the masochist dealer, with a plying air, "do you not know the word 'thermometer' is derived from two Greek words meaning
'a measure of heat'? Naturally, therefore, it isn't meant to measure cold."

A Twenty Year Sentence.

"I have just completed a twenty year health sentence, imposed by Bucklen's Arnica Slave, which cured me of bleeding piles just twenty years ago," writes O. S. Woolever, of LeRayville, N. Y. "Bucklen's Arnica Slave heals the worst sores, boils, burns, wounds and cuts in the shortest time. 25c. at J. H. Swan's drug store."

Made to Feel Young.

"Last week I celebrated my twenty-sixth birthday," announced the bachelor girl. "It made me feel suddenly very old, and I was very, very blue.
That night, to cheer me up, my chum took me to the theater. We were having the most beautiful time, when a gray-haired lady in the row behind leaned forward and said to me, 'Little girl, does your mother know you are here?' That settled it. If I was 26, at least I didn't look it. I went home much cheered and decided that I wouldn't have to take to knitting work and an ear trumpet this year at least."

"Yellow Fever" Literature.

There is a yellow fever of literature specially adapted and prepared for the spread of shameless curiosity, incorrect information, and complacent idiotism among all classes of the population.—Henry van Dyke.

PUT LAUGH ON THE ATTORNEY.

Legal Light the Victim of Swede's Peculiar Dialect.

At a court in western Massachusetts, a man was on trial, charged with having committed a robbery early in the summer, and his attorney was endeavoring to prove an alibi.
"Now, sir," said the prosecuting attorney, to the prisoner, "tell us where you were on June 15."
"In Yale," was the reply.
"Yale," snorted the attorney, con-temptuously. "Listen to that, your honor! This ignorant man never was at Yale in his life. You know you are at Yale in this life. You know you are prisoning!" he said turning to the prisoner. "When did you leave Yale?"
"You lie, too," was the quick response.
"Silence," roared the exasperated lawyer. "Your honor, I ask that this man be fined for contempt."
"May it please the court," interposed the prisoner's counsel, who had been enjoying the scene hugely, "my client is a Swede. What he means is that he was in jail on June 15 and left there on July 2."
And the case was dismissed.—Illustrated Sunday Magazine.

Two Really Good "Bulls."
In the report of a Dublin charity organization the following paragraph appeared:
"Notwithstanding the large amount paid by the society for medical attendances and medicine, very few deaths occurred during the year."
Which calls to mind the story of the two countrymen who were passing an eye hospital famous for its skilful operations.
"Jack," exclaimed one of them, impressively, "in there they'll take your eyes out and put them on the table in front of you and let you look at them."

A Startling Truth.
Prof. Albert Bushnell Hart, professor of American history at Harvard, is a man whose hobbies run alongside of his work. Lately he acquired a desire for statistics and began seeking them with his accustomed energy. He was very much impressed with the mortality figures, and, meeting his colleague, Prof. Grandgent, in the yard, addressed him mournfully:
"I've been looking up mortality statistics, Grandgent, and what do you think? A man dies every time I breathe!"—Lippincott's.

Sore Throat.
Those subject, to sore throat will find the following preparation simple, cheap and highly efficacious when used in the early stage: Pour a pint of boiling water on 30 leaves of the common sage and let the infusion stand for an hour; add vinegar sufficient to make it pleasantly acid, and honey to taste. The mixture should be used as a gargle twice a day. There is no danger if some of it is swallowed.

NEW DEVICE FOR AUTO-DRIVERS.

Silver Tones of Trumpet Used to Make Pedestrians Jump.

The salesman displayed a silver horn similar to a trumpet—a silver trumpet with three stops.
"In automobilism this is now the only thing," he said. "The weird siren wall, the gruff honk-honk, the shrill whistle, all have been superseded by the silver note of this trumpet which you blow yourself."
He put it to his lips and blew a revelle.
"You must blow it yourself," he said. "The instrument is not to be worked with a rubber ball. It must be put to the lips.
"Something like coaching, eh?
Only, in coaching it is the groom who blows the horn, but in automobilism
the owner blows it, taking great pride in his skill.
"All over France, as the great shining cars rush along, you hear brief snatches of beautiful musical phrases, and you see, beside the chauffeur, a proud young man in a sable coat, playing his trumpet with passionate absorption.
"Sometimes it is a girl who handles the trumpet. That is indeed a pretty thing to see—a rosy, yellow-haired girl, let us say, in lustrous black sealskin, holding the trumpet to her red lips, and giving you, as she goes playing by, a roguish glance out of her clear blue eyes."

Beware of Becoming Hermit.
If a man does not make new acquaintances as he advances through life he will soon find himself alone.—
Dr. Johnson.

When Age Troubles Women.
"Women," said a marriage license clerk, "often lie about their age in the certificate. Look here. This is a letter from a woman now, asking me if a little age lie will illegitimate her marriage. She says she is 36 and her finance thinks her 29. She wants, naturally, to maintain the illusion. I get such letters every week. I reply, if stamps are inclosed, that there is no law against these lies. After all, they do no harm, do they? Yes? No?
"There's a law against them in Australia. There, only the other day, a divorce was granted a man on the plea that his wife had lied about her age to him. She was, it seems, 46, but he had thought her only 35."

PAIN

Pain in the head—pain anywhere, has its cause.
Pain is congestion, pain is blood pressure—nothing else usually. At least, so says Dr. Shoop, and to prove it he has created a little pink tablet. That tablet—called Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablet—coaxes blood pressure away from pain centers, its effect is charming, pleasingly delightful. Gently, though safely, it surely equalizes the blood circulation.
If you have a headache, it's blood pressure.
If it's painful periods with women, same cause.
If it's restless, nervous, it's blood pressure.
If you are sleepless, restless, nervous, it's blood pressure. That surely is a congestion—blood pressure. Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets stop it in 20 minutes, and the tablets simply distribute the unnatural blood pressure.
Bruise your finger, and doesn't it get red, and swell, and pain you? Of course it does. It's a congestion, blood pressure. You'll find it where pain always is. It's simply common sense.

That languid, lifeless feeling that comes with spring and early summer, is quickly changed to feeling of buoyancy and energy by the judicious use of Dr. Shoop's Restorative. The Restorative is a genuine tonic to tired, rundown nerves, and but a few doses is needed to satisfy the user that Dr. Shoop's Restorative is actually reaching that tired spot. The indoor life of winter nearly always leads to sluggish bowels, and to sluggish circulation in general. The customary lack of exercise and outdoor air ties up the liver, stagnates the kidneys, and oftentimes weakens the heart's action. Use Dr. Shoop's Restorative a few weeks and all will be changed. A few days test will tell you that you are using the right remedy. You will easily and surely note the change from day to day. Sold by J. H. Swan.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been tested in so many ways, in hospital work, in private practice, among the helpless too poor to purchase relief and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Uncompleted Works of Genius.

Amongst famous poems that were never completed, mention may be made of Byron's "Don Juan," Keat's "Hyperion," Coleridge's "Christabel," and Gray's "Agrippina." Spenser's "Faerie Queene," too, is no more than a fragment, although a colossal one.

PLAIN SHIRT WAIST

HAS TAKEN PLACE OF SOFT LINGERIE BLOUSE.

Fine Linens, Lawns and Sheer Colored Materials Are the Most Popular in Making Up This Attractive Garment.

To the delight of the woman who is fond of trim, tailor effects the practical shirt waist is again to the fore to be worn with short skirt suits. Perhaps the revival of the linen collar has induced the adoption of the plain shirt waist, or it may be that it is high time for a decided change from the soft, lingerie blouse which has had such a long period of popularity. Whatever is the cause, the plain shirt waists is here, and it promises to rival the lace trimmed ones in its dauntlessness of coloring and materials.

Many of the newest tailor shirt waists are made of heavy materials, Fashionable Waist Model.

linens and washable silks of a rough weave, but these do not look as smart as the shirt waists of thinner fabrics—fine linens, lawns and sheer colored materials. A favorite model for a sheer shirt waist, shown in the illustration, is made with a yoke coming rather deep over the shoulders in front and with the fronts slightly full to this. There is a wide plait down the front, and the sleeves are in regulation shirt waist style, finished with small, stiff cuffs cut in a point on the upper side.

White or colored stiff collars are suitable with these shirt waists, and if the material is heavy then a trim short bow is appropriate. With the sheer lawn and linen waists fancy lace and lawn bows look charming.

SYNOPSIS.

Burton H. Barnes, a wealthy American (touring Corsica, rescues the young English lieutenant, Edward Gerard Anstruther, and his Corsican bride, Marina, daughter of the Paolis, from the murderous vendetta, understanding that the reward is to be the hand of the girl he loves, Enid Anstruther, sister of the English lieutenant. The four fly from Ajaccio to Marseilles on board the French steamer Constantine. The vendetta pursues and as the quartet are about to board the train for London at Marseilles, Barnes gets a part of the mysterious note and receives letters which inform him that he is marked by the vendetta. He employs an American detective and plans to beat the vendetta at their own game. For the purpose of securing the safety of the women Barnes arranges to have Lady Chatterbox, a wealthy widow, and a niece to which the party is to be taken in a yacht. Barnes and Enid make arrangements for their marriage. The net tightens about Barnes. He receives a note from La Belle Blackwood, the American adventuress. Barnes hears that Elizabeth Emory, his detective, has been murdered by the Corsicans. He learns that the man supposed to be Corregio, who followed the party on their way to the boat, was Salicetti, a nephew of the count, and that Count Corregio had been in Nice for some time prior to the party's arrival. The count warns Barnes not to marry Enid unless he would have her also involved in the murderous feud. Barnes and Enid are married. Soon after their wedding Barnes' bride disappears. Barnes discovers she has been kidnapped and taken to Corsica. The groom secures a fishing vessel and is about to start in pursuit of his bride's captors when he hears a scream from the villa and rushes back to hear the Anstruther's wife, Marina, is also missing. Barnes is compelled to depart for Corsica without delay, and so he leaves the search for Marina to her husband while he goes to hunt for Enid. Just before Barnes' boat lands on Corsica's shore Marina is discovered hiding in the corner of the vessel. She explains her action by saying she has come to help Barnes rescue his wife from the Corsicans.

CHAPTER XI.—Continued.

"How many were there?" interjects Barnes hurriedly.

"About four, Monsieur. Only one know how to sail ze ship. But ze night is fine and affairs bringing me to make ze breakfast during ze darkness, ze one who knew ze coast steered us here. Zen zey drop ze anchor and cry to me: 'Cook, stay on board. You tell ze cursed Americano, Signore Barnes of New York to come to Bocognano if he would rescue his wife. We have greeting for him zere vitch he vill not forget!' Zay all take off zaire hats, as ze young cavalier bring upon deck your beautiful lady, who looked like a goddess, so haughty, so noble. To him as he bowed before her, she says: 'Monsieur Bernardo Salicetti, you who were ven gentlemanlike a few days ago and have now become a kidnapper, tell your savages to keep zaire hands off me and I vill go with you.'

"To me she command as she stepped into ze boat: 'Lobouet, have a good meal for Mr. Barnes, who vill be coming soon.' Zen she look at me with her eyes. I know she means I am not to forget something. Ah, your mariee vas valre brave. Only once in ze long night, as I listen with my ears, I hear from ze cabin a short, quick sob."

"My wife's eyes told you to remember something? What was it?" asks Barnes very eagerly, though his gaze is dim.

"Oh, volia! When ze ruffians were preparing ze boat for her, Madame whispered in my ear: 'Tell my husband to look in ze third drawer of ze cabin locker.'"

Before the last words have left the Frenchman's lips, the American is down the companionway and has torn open the drawer indicated. He hurriedly tosses aside the contents and produces a note, the superscription of which, in the dear hand he knows, makes him falter. It is simply addressed: "Mr. Burton H. Barnes," and reads:

My Darling Husband: I have little time to write, for they are preparing to take me on shore in a boat. We are now anchored off Corsica somewhere.

Last evening, through some careless message of Thompson misinterpreted by my own eagerness, I came on board the yacht alone, thinking you had gone there before me to avoid some encounter with Daniela that might delay our wedding trip. A boat was waiting for me at the landing place. In the darkness, during the short hundred yards to the yacht, I noticed nothing suspicious in the oarsmen, probably because my thoughts were so entirely of you.

Flying into the cabin, expecting to meet you, I heard the doors close upon me and a voice in Corsican French said: "She is ours!" Then the slipping of bolts outside told me I was a prisoner. No cries of mine or commands were heeded. The yacht got under way.

Ah, what a night I've passed here in this cabin that should have been our honeymoon home, thinking of your misery when you found you had been taken. But knowing by your love that you will pursue and find me, I send you this warning, which is of great importance. I have learned by some careless French conversation that has drifted in to me that I am to be the lure to bring you to the death of the vendetta in Bocognano. To me Salicetti has boasted that they have notified you they take me to Corsica. They are sure your affection for me will make you follow me, rash and careless in your agony. There Salicetti means to assassinate you, thinking by that to gain the votes of his peculiar countrymen, because he has nobly fulfilled his diabolical oath of the horrible vendetta that they worship. Therefore, by your love for me, my husband, I charge you not to risk your dear life unduly, and to bring with you enough friends to protect you from these assassins. I hear the splash of the boat put overboard; they will be coming for me, so kiss the letter where I sign and you'll meet the lips of, in life or death, always, YOUR WIFE.

Barnes reads this letter carefully twice. Once he gazes up; but the sight of the cabin decorated for his honeymoon, about which are scattered his wife's dainty belongings brought on board for a nuptial voyage, makes him close his misty eyes with a shudder.

Lebouet is now calling down the companionway: "Monsieur, I have obeyed your wife's commands. A good meal is served on deck for you and Madame Anstruther."

He must eat to keep his strength up for the work that is ahead of him. The American steps alertly on deck and tries to show his appreciation of the French chef's art, but anguish is a bar to appetite.

After a moment Barnes passes Enid's letter over to Edwin's wife. When she has read it, he says: "I have been thinking if it wouldn't be better to sail to Ajaccio and get De Belloc and some of his tr-oopers to go with us to Bocognano."

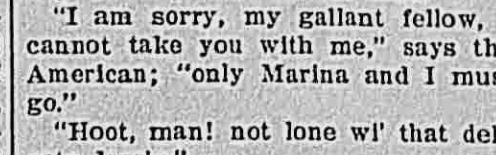

"With De Belloc and his troopers you would never find her," answers Marina. "The sight of their cavalry uniforms would be signalled up the Valley of the Gravona; Enid would not be in Bocognano. In the mountain fastnesses of Del Oro they would hide her where you would never find her."

"Then some honest countrymen, from this neighborhood; they can be hired?" suggests Barnes.

"But not by a foreigner to strike against a Corsican," replies Marina, almost proudly. "To have any hope of finding your wife we must go alone. I'll lead you by secret paths through the mountains; on the main road did they see you coming they would ambush and kill you." Her eyes look eagerly upon the shore, she rises and says, resolutely: "Come!"

Barnes, more eager than she, quickly dresses himself in the simple hunting suit he has brought with him.

"Oh, you must look more Corsican," cries the girl, and deftly puts a cock's feather plucked from one of his bride's for use over the stones of mountain paths.

Both are eager. Within five minutes they are in the boat, and pulled by two Scotch tars, soon land upon the rocky shore. As Marina's feet touch the soil, she looks at it passionately and murmurs bitterly: "To think that I come back to my native island with the hands of so many of the friends of my childhood against me, with so many hearts that once turned toward me turned away." Then she draws herself up and says desperately, yet proudly: "But I will show to them my hands are free of the blood of Tomasso Monaldi."

Clambering over the sea-washed rocks, they reach the green woodland, and soon through its soft foliage of flex, beech and wild citron, tread a romantic path that leads them to the more dusty highway which skirts the coast, slightly to the south of the little quay of Sagone. This Marina says is fortunate, that they need not excite curiosity by passing through the seaside village to reach the road to Vico, by which they will strike east to reach the vast glen between Monte Rotondo and Monte Del Oro.

A little while along this road, roasting beneath the hot sun and stifled by the dust of early summer, when Marina says, pointing to a farmer's house: "Stay here and I'll bargain for the use of two of the native ponies I see in his barnyard."

A few minutes of apparently excited gesticulation and talk with the peasant who is hoeing in his field, and she brings into the road two sturdy, shaggy brown ponies.

Mounting astride one of these, Corsican fashion, Marina says almost gaily: "We have the beasts for a week at 30 francs apiece. Now I feel at home again."

Upon the other Barnes would dash forward, but some very serious words from his companion stop him. "It was lucky I saw that farmer. He said: 'I would give you a more gentle beast, girl, had not four men three hours ago engaged my little Mandallina for a lady's use. Of course, my best was at Signore Salicetti's order. I had heard him speak up in the mountains at the polling booth great words on the glory of Corsica, which had given France a Bonaparte and one day would give her another.'"

Suddenly the girl calls: "But you cannot overtake Enid in a second," for the American's heels are beating a tattoo on the sides of his sturdy little cob, and he is hurrying forward muttering: "Three hours ahead of me. Perhaps we can overtake my darling before night!"

"Don't ride so fast," exclaims his companion, galloping her pony to him. Then her voice growing very solemn, she says warningly: "From some hill-top, should we get too near, they will see us coming, and in a vendetta ambush, some knife might reach not only your heart but—Enid's. When you have enemies in Corsica, beware the path ahead of you!"

MACHINE WAS ALL RIGHT.

Figured So Well Merchant Decided That He Needed Two.

"Sir," said the man as he entered the office, "I wish to exhibit to you my universal calculating machine—a thing that should be found in the counting room of every business man. It will add, subtract, divide, multiply, and there is no such thing as failure."

"I have heard of it," replied the merchant, "but I never understood it was much of a success." "O, sir, but it is perfect! Give me any example you will, and I will guarantee a correct solution." "Very well, I bought two dozen leghorn chickens at $3 each. I built a coop at an expense of $30. In one year I bought $25 worth of feed. In the same year I got six eggs. What was my profit or loss for the year?" "Why, you paid out $127 and got back about 20 cents. In actual figures, your loss was $126.80." "I guess that's correct," sighed the merchant, "and you may leave me two machines. I'll keep one busy on my chickens and the other figuring out how much profit I make in raising my own celery and cucumbers."

Beautiful Eyes.

The almost universal habit of turning the head in whichever direction you look deprives the eye of the exercise to which it is entitled. The law of vision is such that, when your eyes are set straight to the front you can see in almost every direction, except behind your head. Every now and then you see a woman with eyes that seem to roll in their sockets, taking in everything without a suggestion of head movement. These are the eyes that drive men to distraction. O, eyes. Honest eyes. Usually brown eyes. Open eyes. Altogether different from the small, ferret eyes of the detective, which pretend to be looking at the ground, yet see sidewise out of both slits.

Butcher's Inference.

One day Emperor Francis Joseph was entering a village in his domain on horseback and was met on the outskirts by a butcher who had gone out in hope of catching an early glimpse of the Austrian kaiser. The emperor asked the butcher the way to an inn, and after directions had been given the butcher in turn inquired: "Have you seen the kaiser?" "Very recently," answered Francis Joseph, "Are you sure? Do you know him certainly?" asked the eager butcher. "Well, I ought to," replied the monarch, puffing out his chest. "I have shaved him often enough." "Ah, and you are the court barber," said the abashed butcher in awestruck tones, as he doffed his cap and backed to the road side.

A SLAT GATE.

It Will Prove Serviceable for the Barn Doorway.

Where the horse stable opens into the buggy room and it is necessary to keep the door open for ventilation I find that a small gate constructed of light material is an excellent protection against horses getting loose and injuring the buggies.

The cut herewith shows a light gate we have in use in our horse barn. It is very simple in construction, but serves a very important purpose. Were it not for this light gate we would find it necessary to keep the door closed between the horse stable and buggy room, thus shutting off ventilation.

The gate is hinged onto the rolling door with light strap hinges, explains a writer in Prairie Farmer, so that when the gate is not in use it swings around and fastens to the large door out of the way.

For material in making the gate we use inch strips of good pine for the horizontal pieces. The upright pieces are light strips gotten out for fence pickets.

I find a light gate of this character a good thing to keep poultry out of the barn during the summer months.

KEEP STOCK IN CONDITION.

No Time of Year When They Should Be Let Run Down.

When? Right now—to-day and to-morrow and all the time till it comes time to let the cattle out to pasture.

Sometimes we may get a little careless about this. So many men say: "What hurt does it do to let the cows go with scant rations for a few weeks in winter? By-and-by they will go out to pasture and then they can gain up again. It will not cost so much to get them in good flesh then as it would now, and feed costs so in winter!"

Of course feed costs. That is a foregone conclusion. If we keep stock, however, ought we not to be prepared to do the fair thing by it? There are some of the best reasons why, from our own standpoint, we should do this. One of these is, that if we turn the cattle out in spring poor and weak it will take so long to get them up in good shape to do their best that we shall lose more than we shall gain by scrimping now.

We are learning that cattle are sure to take the feed we give them if they are lean and in poor rig and lay it on their backs, first of all; then after they are in good condition they will apply the surplus to the milk-pail. It is always the surplus that we get. And there will be no surplus if we keep our cows just on the verge of hunger.

The Farmers' Voice well says that it is the cow which has been kept well that puts the money in our pockets. Cows poorly treated are our farm charges, to be maintained at the cost of what the best cows do. There should be no such charges; every cow should be a producer.

LABOR OF THE HORSE.

How It Can Be Made to Make Up for Lack of Hired Help.

Some one has figured out that it costs on the average only one-half as much to feed a horse as it does to feed a man, and that the horse will do ten times the amount of work that it is possible for the man to do. If this estimate is correct, then a dollar's worth of food given the horse will produce 20 times as much results as the same amount of money will if expended in feed for a man. Therefore, when man domesticated the horse he immensely increased his own power of securing results. When much farm work is to be done there should always be enough horses to do it. Farmers try to economize on the number of horses and have to leave much work undone. In the event of hired help being scarce, it is sometimes possible to offset this lack by increasing the number of horses kept. In some parts of the west and northwest, declares the Farmers' Review, the scarcity of help has resulted in more horses being used. Five are hitched to a double plow, and one driver is thus enabled to turn two furrows at a time and practically double the work that one man has to do. This is the result of the complete utilization of horseflesh.

Don't worry over the kind of dip to use, but be sure to use some kind. Talking about it won't kill any of the ticks.

HEAVES CAUSED BY HAY.

Veterinarian Cautions Against Too Heavy Feeding.

A noted veterinarian of Canada says that one full feed per day of hay is enough for a horse; that because the work horses are busy in crop time they only get one full feed of hay every 24 hours, but in the winter are frequently allowed to stand and eat all day. He says that a horse to be in perfect health should have the stomach emptied, of the previous meal for two or three hours before he is given another. If such is not the case, digestion will not take place in a perfect manner, and disease is likely to result. There is a remarkable sympathy between the stomach and the lungs, because of the fact that the same nerve trunk supplies nerve force to both organs. When the stomach is deranged from improper feeding the lungs are liable to become sympathetically affected and heaves often result. Care should also be taken that a horse should be fed no dusty or musty hay. This dust is as light as air, and the horse in breathing draws it right into the lung tissue with every breath, and this substance, being an irritant, is very prone to develop the heaves. If no better hay can be obtained, the dust should be laid by sprinkling with water, when the horse will not breathe it, but will be swallowed with his feed and probably do him no harm; but when at all possible only bright, clean hay, free from dust, should be fed to horses. Again no horse is in fit condition for active exercise with a stomach distended with hay, because the stomach situated as it is right behind the lung space, if full, bulges forward into the chest to such an extent that the lungs have no room to properly expand, and cannot perform their functions properly; and anything that interferes with the function of the lungs predisposes to heaves.

In many cases if farmers would feed one-third less hay to idle horses in the winter months they would come out in the spring in better condition.

SHIPPING CRATE.

It Will Make the Handling of the Calves Easier.

The size of the crate will depend upon the size of the calf to be shipped.

For an ordinary six or eight months' calf the crate should be 3½ feet high and 18 inches wide. It is nailed solid with the exception of two stanchion strips in the front end which are made removable so as to be adjusted to the size of the calf's neck. The top of the crate is open and the quickest way is to lift the calf into the crate through the top. If desired, suggests Farm and Home, a small feed box can be attached to the bottom of the front end of this crate.

GOOD FOR LOUSY HOGS. Post Saturated with Oil Against Which They Can Rub.

Set a post four feet long, four inches in diameter two feet deep in the ground. Bore a 1½-inch auger hole 16 inches deep in top of post. See cut. Keep this hole filled with coal oil, and, says the Missouri Valley Farmer, the hogs by rubbing against it will do the rest with one-quarter of the oil you would use in dipping or spraying.

STOCK TALK.

Skim milk is good for lambs. The farmers are not yet fully awake to the value of a good cow.

Feeding high-priced stuff and marketing at a loss is an unprofitable proposition.

The young pig needs bone and muscle developing foods, both before and after it is born.

The time will come when farm made butter will sell for as good a price as any other kind of butter.

Keeping the hogs clean will not at all keep away cholera, but it has a strong tendency in that direction.

Do not turn stock into the meadows when they are wet, as the tramping is very injurious at that time.

Try This Plan. Rather than feed all corn to stock on which you want to produce growth, you had better sell corn and buy wheat bran, middlings, oil meal or any other feed high in protein that can be had at right kind of prices and mix with your corn. I know it is a common practice among some farmers to finish their hogs for the market or an exclusive corn ration. I very much doubt the wisdom of this method. I do not believe there is a period in a hog's life when a variety of feed will not be productive of better results than an exclusive corn ration.

Don't Feed Corn Alone. Tests have shown that the largest gain from feeding cornmeal alone is less than one-half pound per head per day on well-bred swine. Something is needed beside corn, although this is very essential.

Study Your Cows. Study your cows. They will teach you more than lots of books. Read dairy and stock papers and books. Talk to scientific men and your mind will broaden.

HIS WHEAT WENT 22 BUSHELS TO THE ACRE.

HE REALIZED $18 PER ACRE FROM IT, WHILE OATS GAVE HIM $17 AN ACRE.

Moose Jaw, Sask., Nov. 18th, 1907. Writing from Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan, Mr. S. K. Rathwell says:

"I have much pleasure in saying that on my farm this year I had 500 acres in wheat, and 120 acres in oats. My wheat averaged about 22 bushels per acre, and I had 200 acres out before the frost, which I sold at 85 cents per bushel, thus realizing on that wheat $18.00 per acre, not counting cost of twine, seed and labor. With regard to the other 300 acres of wheat, it got touched with frost but is worth 60 cents per bushel. It will net me $13.00 per acre, but I do not intend to sell it at that price, as I can make more money by feeding it to hogs. "My oats turned out about 50 bushels to the acre, and at 35 cents per bushel will give me $17.00 to the acre, not counting seed, twine and labor."

"On account of the late spring, a percentage of the grain was touched with frost, but on account of good prices, farmers will realize a fair profit on their farms even this year. We are as usual up against a shortage of cars to get our grain removed."

Perils of Fence Mending. "I understand that member of congress hurried home to mend his fences."

"Yes. But he doesn't appear to have made a neat job of it. His prospects look as if he had gotten into a tangle with a lot of barbed wire."

The General Demand

of the Well-Informed of the World has always been for a simple, pleasant and efficient liquid laxative remedy of known value; a laxative which physicians could sanction for family use because its component parts are known to them to be wholesome and truly beneficial in effect, acceptable to the system and gentle, yet prompt, in action.

In supplying that demand with its excellent combination of Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, the California Fig Syrup Co. proceeds along ethical lines and relies on the merits of the laxative for its remarkable success.

That is one of many reasons why Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is given the preference by the Well-Informed. To get its beneficial effects always buy the genuine—manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., only, and for sale by all leading druggists. Price fifty cents per bottle.

BIG DISTILLERY BURNS.

Loss of $230,000 Caused by Fierce Fire in Peoria Plant.

Peoria.—Fire which started on the fourth floor of the elevator of the Corning Distilling company's plant did $230,000 damage to the building and contents, threatened all the other buildings and 3,000 cattle and proved one of the most spectacular blazes seen in years. The "mill," or elevator building, is a six-story brick structure 150 feet square, in which thousands of bushels of grain are stored, and at the top of which is the machinery for grinding the corn and other grains for the cookers. The blaze quickly spread to the other floors, and to the "still" house of the distillery proper adjoining. In this building are huge beer stills and the heat caused an explosion which set the roof of the beer tower, a hundred feet high, on fire.

EDUCATOR SLAIN BY ASSASSIN.

Predecessor in Place Is Arrested with Wife After the Crime.

Bridgeport.—Samuel W. Coonvery, employed by the Jennings Producing company as manager of their pumping station on the Eshman farm, was shot and killed by an assassin. Bloodhounds were brought from Vincennes and put upon the trail, but owing to the accumulation of oil near where the body lay the dogs were unable to pick up the scent. Coonvery was superintendent of schools of Jennings county for eight years, and recently superintendent of the Van Buren city schools. He lost his health and came here for outside employment. He recently superseded Samuel Phillips at the position, and his actions were of such a character that he and his wife were placed under arrest.

Falling Tree's Plank.

Accused Ex-Official Set Free.

Peoria.—Robert Joos, former city clerk, who was indicted for embezzling funds from saloon licenses, was freed in the circuit court here on the charge of misappropriating $500. The point raised was that the funds for licenses were payable to the treasurer and not the clerk.

Father Found in Long Hunt.

CHEESE IN SALAD

IS SAID TO GIVE FINE FLAVOR TO THE DISH.

Especially Care Needed in Cooking Meats and Vegetables If Success Would Be Assured—Preparing Fish and Meat.

A Boston hostess served such a delicious vegetable salad the other night, that in spite of themselves one or two of the guests exclaimed over it. The unusual flavor was given, it seems, by adding a couple of handfuls of cream cheese to the French dressing, which shows that there's a chance yet for something new in salad making.

An unusually snappy salad calls for a small cucumber, a boiled beet, a couple of anchovies, two hard-boiled eggs, a boiled potato, 24 big olives and a head of lettuce. Make the French dressing and incorporate the anchovies which have been mashed to a paste, with it. Line the salad bowl with the lettuce and put the various ingredients, all cut into dice, into it. Season with salt and paprika, sprinkle lightly with sherry—about a quarter of a cupful—and turn the dressing over. Toss all together before serving.

Even in preparing common salads especial care in cooking the meat and vegetables pays.

Fish and meat used in salad should always be cold, and should be allowed to stand for a time covered with oil and vinegar, which should be drained off before the salad dressing is turned on.

To blanch vegetables for a salad cut them into the shapes and sizes required and boil each separately for three or four minutes. Then drain, turn into cold water and boil in salted water until tender.

Cold, boiled ham furnishes the basis for a tasty luncheon or supper salad. Dice the ham and to a cupful of it allow the same amount of shredded white cabbage, a small cucumber pickle and a pickled button onion, both chopped fine. Make a border center and sprinkle with the minced pickle. Dress with oil and vinegar and garnish with olives and Spanish red peppers.

Celery, green peppers, apples and a slice of onion cut up together make an appetizing dinner salad. Garnish it with radishes and dress with oil and vinegar and a dash of paprika.

Another novelty is made of pimientos and cold boiled string beans mixed.

An Egg Sandwich Worth Eating. The proprietor of a very small, clean, tastefully tidy and exclusive restaurant near the upper boundary of the Tenderloin serves an egg sandwich between 11:30 and 1:30 every week day that is attracting more customers than he can accommodate, says the New York Press. For each sandwich two small yellow dishes (fireproof earthenware) are used and an egg at least a week old is shirred in each. When just right one of the eggs is plastered over about a quarter-inch thick with ground-up ham knuckle, seasoned with butter and pepper. You know the knuckle of a boiled ham becomes very hard in a few days. It is the choice part of the ham, and while difficult to cut with a knife, is easily ground. The second egg is quickly inverted and dumped upon the first. The ham is between the two, and the sandwich is served red hot in the first dish, the second acting as a cover to be removed at the table. Price, 25 cents.

Chafing Dish Aprons. For one who wishes something especially dainty in aprons for chafing dish suppers or cozy little fancy work parties, there could be nothing prettier than one made of sheerest handkerchief linen. Cut about the size of the average centerpiece, it has an elaborate scallop, but the upper part is hollowed out to fit the waist of the wearer and long sash ends hold it in place.

The tiny pockets are embroidered with a spray of ragged-robins with a touch of dainty green, while several large designs of the same are strewn along the lower edge.

Old Stockings. In a family where there are no children for whom to refect stockings the housewife is apt to find an accumulation in the mending basket. Take several tops, having removed the feet, and sew together, then fold over and sew across the bottom as for a bag, then down the sides, then turn to right side and sew across the top, and one has a dust cloth that will not scratch the polished furniture or floors. Be careful to sew so seams will be on inside and no ravellings will remain.

Home-Made Shoe Polish. Take of ivory black and treacle each four ounces, sulphuric acid one ounce, best olive oil two spoonfuls, best white wine vinegar three half pints; mix the ivory black and sulphuric acid, continuing to stir the mixture; next pour in the oil, and lastly add the vinegar, stirring it in by degrees until thoroughly incorporated.

To Clean Grease from Skillets. It is not generally known that used-up tea leaves from the bottom of the teapot, if emptied into a greasy frying pan and allowed to stand for a few minutes in a little hot water will remove every particle of grease adhering to the sides of the pan.

Boys' Peanut Candy. Take two pounds sugar, one pound corn syrup, two pounds raw peanuts. Put peanuts in when sugar boils. Cook until ready to burn and pour on greased plates.

Our Springfield Letter

Special Correspondent Writes of Things of Interest at the State Capital.

Springfield.—Col. James Hamilton Lewis, who has been coquetting with governorship politics, at last has done something on which an action for breach of promise could be based if he failed to make good. His petitions for a place on the Democratic primary ballot of August 8 as a candidate for the nomination as governor were put in circulation in Chicago. No announcement of intentions goes with them, but they in themselves constitute an "overt act," and Col. Lewis no longer will be able to put his remarks concerning the governorship in the subjunctive mood. Douglas Pattison of Freeport, minority leader in the house of representatives, also became a full fledged candidate, he by making an announcement of intentions and policies. Both Col. Lewis and Mr. Pattison had been "expected," and their arrival was not attended with the force of the unexpected. The latter in making his announcement declared in favor of an amendment to the primary law making it applicable to national delegates, saying that the necessity of this had been made apparent by the fact that Speaker Joseph G. Cannon was securing instructions in the state, "although it is notorious that he is not the choice of ten per cent. of the Republican voters of Illinois." He said that if the two cent railroad rate law were declared invalid on technical grounds he would urge the re-enactment of it and that he favored laws authorizing cities to operate gas and electric light plants and to regulate charges of all public utility corporations, and laws guaranteeing deposits in state banks and regulating the capitalization of corporations.

Governor Names Delegates.

Gov. Deneen has named President Edmund J. James of the University of Illinois, Isham Randolph and Lyman E. Cooley of Chicago as delegates to the national conference of governors on the conservation of national resources, which will be held between May 12 and 15 at Washington. The conference was called by President Roosevelt and Gov. Deneen has accepted an invitation to attend. President Roosevelt has nowhere shown his farsightedness more than in his insistence that serious thought should be taken of the proper use and conservation of great national resources. Among the latter none is more common and more neglected than water. Whether one looks to the health of the people, the development of manufacturing by water power or by steam generation, the increase of transportation facilities or the adding to the acreage of cultivatable lands, the problem of our inland streams must be considered. The president has appointed an inland waterways commission, and it has important work under way.

Add to Capital Revenue.

Plans to add $90,000 annually to Springfield's revenue were made at the semi-annual meeting of the board of town auditors by the collection of road and bridge tax in Capital township. The collection is made legal by an act of the legislature in 1907, and final action will be taken at the meeting of the board in September. The matter was brought up for discussion by City Attorney Roy M. Seeley. He stated that in cities where the boundary lines are co-extensive with the township, the board of town auditors and the city council have the right to collect taxes that are to be used in improving roads and bridges. It is estimated that the annual collection, which is not to exceed six mills on the estimated valuation, will net $90,000 annually. As Capital township has few bridges to care for, the money will be spent in improving crossings in districts that are not paved.

New State Officers Installed.

The newly elected officers of the Illinois Mine Workers were inducted into their respective positions, and for the coming year will look after the interests of their constituents. The new officers are: President, John H. Walker, Danville; vice-president, Frank Farrington, Streator; secretary-treasurer, James Radford, Springfield. James Burns of this city is the member of the executive board from this district. Mr. Radford, who succeeds W. D. Ryan, is critically ill at the hospital with typhoid fever and for the present his place will be looked after by Miss Lizzie Ryan, who is familiar with the work of this important position.

Much Cash for New Pavements.

The annual report of City Engineer Frank H. Hamilton, just completed, shows that $102,231.23 was spent in paving, and $9,125.99 in the construction of sewers by Springfield in the last fiscal year ending February 29, 1908. The present area of Springfield is given as 7,707 square miles, and the total length of streets and alleys as 138.49 miles. The collections of the office for permits issued reached $520. A detailed account of the various improvements within the year is given in the report.

Big Corn Show for Springfield.

A corn show—the greatest in the world—will be held in Springfield next October. This city lies in the middle of the country and the local chamber of commerce has decided upon an exposition commensurate with the importance of this section in the corn-producing world. Expert corn growers from the middle west were here recently to confer with the members of the chamber of commerce and to offer their counsel and services in the project. Included among the visitors were: Prof. Perry G. Holden, agronomist of the College of Iowa and vice-president of the National Corn Growers' association; Eugene D. Funk of Bloomington, president of the National Corn association; Prof. J. Wilke Jones of Omaha, general manager of the National Corn show to be held at Omaha December 10-19 next; Hon. A. P. Grout of Winchester, former president of the Illinois Farmers' Institute; Charles A. Rowe of Jacksonville, president of the Illinois Corn Growers' association; Leigh F. Maxcy of Curran, secretary of the Illinois Corn Growers' association; John S. Ciesby of Arcola, superintendent of the National Corn association.

Allege Fraudulent Statements.

Every statement made to the state of Illinois by officials of the Illinois Central Railway company was falsely and fraudulently made, with the intention of defrauding the state. This bold accusation is made in the amended bill for an accounting prepared by the attorney general's department, in the suit now being prosecuted against the railroad company by Gov. Deneen. The amended bill was filed in the circuit court of La Salle county. It was prepared by W. H. Boys, former assistant attorney general and now chairman of the railroad and warehouse commission, who has been employed as a special counsel in this case. Assisting Mr. Boys are Judge B. F. Lincoln and Maj. J. R. Widmer, both of Ottawa. It was expected that a demurrer on the part of the railroad would be the next move in the case. Either a hearing on the demurrer or, if the railroad's counsel should not decide to demur, a hearing on the case is expected at the May term of the circuit court of La Salle county.

Ask a Rockwood Station.

A petition has been filed with the Illinois railroad and warehouse commission by residents of Rockwood, Randolph county, asking for the re-establishment of a station on the line of the St. Louis & Iron Mountain railway at that point. A station formerly maintained at Rockwood, but recently was abandoned. A hearing on the petition was held before the commission. A conference was also held among the officials of the Illinois Traction system, the Chicago & Alton and Illinois Central railroads, together with the railroad and warehouse commissioners, in relation to the crossing of the trolley line's tracks over those of the steam roads at Lincoln.

Arrest Mine Owners.

Owners of a number of coal mines in Springfield vicinity have been served with warrants charging violation of state mining laws in that maps of underground workings were not prepared and placed on file as the statute requires. Complaint was made by State Mine Inspector Thomas Hanna and warrants were issued for the owners or representatives of the following mine concerns: Springfield Corporation Coal Mining company, Standard Wash Coal companies Nos. 1 and 2 at Spaulding and Bliss, Williamsville Coal company, Starnes' mine, Charles Herst's mine, Mechanicsburg Coal company, Barclay Coal company and Auburn & Alton Coal company.

Celebrate Shorter Work Day.

Springfield mine workers observed the tenth anniversary of the inauguration of the eight-hour work day by not working, but no public demonstration was made. Miners in many places in the state held celebrations and officials of the state organization spoke to the men. President John H. Walker went to Herrin to deliver an address at the celebration there. Duncan McDonald, national board member, spoke at O'Fallon. Frank J. Hayes, assistant to International Secretary-Treasurer Ryan at Indianapolis, was the speaker at a celebration at Bloomington. Vice-President Frank Farrington spoke to a gathering at Streator.

Says Tax Only Work Vehicles.

The start toward an early decision by the supreme court on the legality of the wheel tax ordinance was made in Chicago when Judge Carpenter held that automobiles and vehicles used for purposes of pleasure only could not be taxed under the statute. Three weeks ago a demurrer of Chicago to a bill of the Harder Van company, which claimed that vehicles used for mercantile purposes could not be taxed was sustained by the lower court. The desire is to argue the case before the supreme court this term.

RAISED FROM A SICK BED.

After Being an Invalid with Kidney Disorders for Many Years.

John Armstrong, Cloverport, Ky., says: "I was an invalid with kidney complaints for many years, and cannot tell what agony I endured from backache. My limbs were swollen twice natural size and my sight was weakening. The kidney secretions were discolored and had a sediment. When I wished to eat my wife had to raise me up in bed. Physicians were unable to help me and I was going down fast when I began using Doan's Kidney Pills. After a short time I felt a great improvement and am now as strong and healthy as a man could be. I give Doan's Kidney Pills all the credit for it."

THE PART HE PREFERRED.

Subtle Meaning in Poet's Criticism of Decollete Costume.

Joaquin Miller, the poet of the Sierras, is something of a recluse and rarely comes into San Francisco, but when he does he is made a good deal of a lion. On his last visit he was one of the guests at a rather formal dinner at a friend's house where he stayed overnight. His hostess had known the poet since her childhood, so she felt privileged, next morning, to discourse to him of the beauties of the Parisian gown she had worn the night before—beauties which seemed to have escaped his observation.

Mr. Miller listened to all that she had to say and remained silent. "But didn't you really like the dress?" pleaded the lady.

"Well," replied the poet, "I did like part of it well enough."

The lady brightened.

"Indeed?" she said. "What part?"

"The part you had on," answered the poet; and that ended the discussion.—Lippincott's.

PROBABLY HE WAS.

Doctor—Can't you put your tongue out a little further, Mrs. Mugg?

Mrs. Mugg—Are you one of those people, doctor, who believe that there is no end to a woman's tongue?

That Held Her.

"The most eloquent speech I ever heard contained only four words," said Sociologist Snodgrass. "Ginger Magonnigle had brought his best geyl to the grand civil ball of the East Side Gentlemen's Sons Terpsichorean Coterie, ticket admitting lady and gent, including hat check, 50 cents. The geyl, fascinated by a better waltzer, abandoned her escort and danced three times with the stranger. As they were beginning their fourth waltz they were stopped by the hand of Ginger Magonnigle, which clutched the arm of the geyl. Gazing deep into her eyes, and with a voice in which were mingled surprise, self-pity, reproach, resentment and menace, he exclaimed: "Sa-a-y, who brung yer?"—Harper's Weekly.

THEY GROW.

Good Humor and Cheerfulness from Right Food.

Cheerfulness is like sunlight. It dispels the clouds from the mind as sunlight chases away the shadows of night.

The good humored man can pick up and carry off a load that the man with a grouch wouldn't attempt to lift.

Anything that interferes with good health is apt to keep cheerfulness and good humor in the background. A Washington lady found that letting coffee alone made things bright for her. She writes:

"Four years ago I was practically given up by my doctor and was not expected to live long. My nervous system was in a bad condition.

"But I was young and did not want to die so I began to look about for the cause of my chronic trouble. I used to have nervous spells which would exhaust me and after each spell it would take me days before I could sit up in a chair.

"I became convinced my trouble was caused by coffee. I decided to stop it and bought some Postum.

"The first cup, which I made according to directions, had a soothing effect on my nerves and I liked the taste. For a time I nearly lived on Postum and ate little food besides. I am today a healthy woman.

"My family and relatives wonder if I am the same person I was four years ago, when I could do no work on account of nervousness. Now I am doing my own housework, take care of two babies—one twenty, the other two months old. I am so busy that I hardly get time to write a letter, yet I do it all with the cheerfulness and good humor that comes from enjoying good health.

"I tell my friends it is to Postum I owe my life today."

HAD SHORTENED UP HIS NAME.

Case Where Some Abbreviations Might Be Pardoned.

The names bestowed upon some of the small southern dinkies remind one of those of the old Roundhead days—Hope-Above-Williams, Have-Faith-to-Be-Saved-John Mitchell, and so on. Not long ago a visitor in Richmond was having his shoes polished by a little coal-black specimen about 18 inches in height, but possessed of gleaming white teeth and rolling eyes.

"What is your name?" the visitor inquired.

"Gen, sah," was the reply, accompanied by a grin of startling proportions.

"Gen?" I suppose that is an abbreviation of general?" the visitor, who had some idea of the fondness of negroes for titles, inquired.

"No, sah, don't know as 'tis," was the reply, "abbreviations" evidently being too much for him. "Mah sho' nough name am 'Genesis-XXX-33-So-Shall-My-Righteousness-Answer-for-Me-In-Time-to-Come-Washington Carter' an' day des calls me 'Gen' for short!"

"Oh, no, sir! It is only a lieutenant in the navy."

He Got What He Needed.

"Nine years ago it looked as if my time had come," says Mr. C. Farthing, of Mill Creek, Ind. Ter. "I was so run down that life hung on a very slender thread. It was then my druggist recommended Electric Bitters. I bought a bottle and I got what I needed—strength. I had one foot in the grave, but Electric Bitters put it back on the turf again, and I've been well ever since." Sold under guarantee at J. H. Swan's drug store. 50c.

Romance In Cement.

There is much of the romantic in the development of the "cement belt" from a farm land, none too rich at that, to a teeming valley filled with laborers, skilled and unskilled. Farmers who for years barely succeeded in making enough from their farms to meet the mortgage interest suddenly found themselves rich beyond the most extraordinary flights of their imagination. Barren, rocky soil, upon which the wild carrot, the goldenrod and the Canada thistle were the most prolific crops, and where the tiller of the soil more frequently than not dammed the rocks which were to prove his fortune, suddenly became worth hundreds of dollars an acre.—Popular Mechanics.

Bad Air "Breath of Death."

"Foul air from improper ventilation is the breath of death in any great city. While poor food is causing one death improper ventilation is reaping a harvest of 1,000 lives. Nor is this ratio confined to the slums."

In these words W. A. Evans of Chicago, commissioner of health, expressed his belief that the atmosphere of many houses is charged with a more deadly poison than impure food.

"In strict figures consumption and pneumonia have the greatest death rates in our city. In almost every case of these diseases the primary cause is the breathing of foul air," he said.

The Devil's Bible.

This wonderful volume is in the royal library of the royal palace of Sweden. It is a huge copy of the Bible written on 300 prepared asses' skins. One tradition says that it took 500 years to complete this copy, which is so large that it has a table by itself. Another tradition asserts that it was done in a single night, owing to the assistance of his satanic majesty, who when the work was completed gave the monk a portrait of himself for a frontispiece.

However true this may be, there can still be found the illuminated likeness of the King of Darkness adorning the front page of the work. This book was carried off by the Swedes, during the Thirty Years' war, from a convent in Prague.—Sunday Magazine.
